THE MISSING WITNESS

[From the N Y Tribune]

It was only one name, and it stood yesterday morning in the list of confirmations by the Senate It was J C S Colby of Missouri, and the Senate confirmed his appointment as Consul at Chin Kiang, China Believers in "the best civil service on the planet" glanced over the list without questioning the merits of any of the appointees for they had the serenest confidence in both President and Senate They knew that President Grant, after all the solicitude he has manifested for Civil Service Reform would not appoint an unfit or incompetent person and they knew that even if he should by some unaccountable accident make such an appointment the Republicans in the Senate who have been engaged for the past two years in advocating the reform would subject the appointment to the most rigid scrutiny and not fail to reject it as unworthy. And the good people who had read with profound feeling the remarks of the President in his late message upon the subject of Civil Service Reform, who know how earnestly he is endeavoring to raise the standard and character and the general tone of the public service and that he has carried it so far as to put nearly every relation he has in the world in office, said as they ran over the list in a casual way, "Ah! Consul at Chin Kiang appointed! Colby—Colby! Don t know Colby—but he is doubtless a man who will reflect honor upon the American name take good care of our interests in China and make Chin Kiang happy by the addition of an eminent American citizen"

This would be the most natural line of thought of the gentlemen who believe in the Civil Service and sympathize with the President in his earnest efforts to elevate its character and tone. It is barely possible, however, that some skeptical or cynical person or perhaps some one who doubts the wisdom of wasting good men on China and thinks we had better keep our wisest and best with us, may inquire, "Who is Colby?" To this inquiry we may answer, without indulging in biography, eulogy, or obituary to any extent, Colby is the Missing Witness in the late Safe Burglary Trial When he first "turned up missing" in the progress of the trial with testimony verbal and documentary which it was believed would have implicated persons of consequence in the district deviltries it was said he had gone to San Francisco on a wedding trip It subsequently appeared that he was making his way out of the country as rapidly as possible, with a consular appointment in his pocket Somebody said the Senate would not confirm the appointment Somebody did not know the Senate.

This transaction hardly needs comment It carries its own The safe burglary conspiracy was the work of what is known as the District Ring In the operations of this ring the family and friends of President Grant are known to have made large sums of money The developments upon the trial of the Safe Burglary conspirators were very damaging to the ring Mr Colby's testimony would have been still more hurtful to them What was the attitude of the President of the United States towards the accused parties? This simply The principal person on trial the alleged chief of the conspiracy was invited to a select family entertainment at the Presidential mansion while the trial was in progress The witness whose testimony was deemed of the highest importance in demonstrating the guilt of the accused was given an appointment as Consul and assisted by the Government in getting out of the reach of the court It is not for us to define the significance of these two facts perhaps they have none. But suppose this had happened in New York, where, if a prominent politician sits in court by the side of his friend who is on trial, it is called interfering with the course of justice As to the confirmation of Mr Colby's appointment—well, this is a Senate that vindicates

REMINISCENSE OF COMMANDER WM B CUSHING, U S N

DIED DECEMBER 18 1874

Entering the navy in September 1857 as a resident of New York he was alternately on sea and shore duty until the last year of the late war when he made himself famous by the following daring deed, for which he received the thanks of the people and a complimentary letter from the Secretary of the Navy

The navy department desiring to effect the destruction of the rebel ram Albemarle which lay at Plymouth N C, sent Lieut Cushing to New York in the summer of 1864 to prepare for the enterprise Having constructed a torpedo boat he returned with it to the Sound and on the night of the 27th of October of that year with a steam launch and thirteen officers and men proceeded up the river on his perilous undertaking The ram lay eight miles from the mouth of the river which was narrow and lined with Confederate pickets and a mile beyond the ram lay the wreck of the Smithfield The launch pressed forward with a full head of steam on the ram which was surrounded by a pen of logs, against which the bow of the launch was directed while bullets from the enemy fell thick The torpedo boom was lowered and by a vigorous pull Cushing drove the torpedo under the overhang and exploded it Just then the monster fired a gun a shot crashed through the boat and, the water rushing in she was in a sinking condition The boat was only fifteen feet from the ram and the gallant little band was fired on Cushing nobly refused to surrender and divesting himself of his coat and shoes ordered the men to make their escape as best they could and plunging into the stream swam with the current and reached the shore where crawling up the bank he lay until daylight

He then crept into a swamp and threaded his way through it until he came to a creek where he found a boat belonging to a rebel picket by means of which he reached a safe place before noon The rest of the boat's crew were with the exception of one either killed drowned or captured

LETTER FROM TACOMA

THE WEATHER—WHAT THE PEOPLE THINK OF THE OREGONIAN—A GENERAL CRAVING FOR RAILROAD TALK—CHEAP TRAVEL ON THE SOUND ETC

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT]

TACOMA, Jan 9, 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The weather has been decidedly wintry for the past few days, and we had begun to fear that our mail from Portland would be non comeatibus on account of the probable freezing of the Columbia river, but happily the thermometer indicates a more genial atmosphere and we look forward to the regular coming of the OREGONIAN, which is the important want of our quiet daily life The OREGONIAN is highly appreciated in this part of the country, as your subscription list no doubt shows

The only fault that is found with the OREGONIAN is that it don t stir the people up enough on railroad matters But that is a fault common to all of the papers in this territory and Oregon "If I was running a newspaper" every one says, "I would punch them up every day on the necessity of doing something to secure the building of some road to connect with civilization"

Now, the fact is, the people don t punch worth a cent, an ox prod wouldn t make them step out of their way to do anything to secure a road, yet they all complain of the tightness of the times and unanimously agree that

NOTHING BUT A RAILROAD WILL HELP MATTERS

But they seem by their actions, to be almost entirely ignorant of the wonderful changes that the building of any one of the several roads that are prominent before Congress would make in their condition They did manage to get a little warm a few months ago on the railroad question but they scattered worse than an old fashioned shot-gun and I am afraid did more harm than good

If the people of Oregon and the adjoining territories really understood how closely their interests are identified with the building of a road to connect with the East what a magical effect would be produced by the passage of a bill aiding a road what wonderful transformations would be wrought all over the land by the building of that road they would get red hot in the cause, and every man would constitute himself a committee of one on railroads and work with all his might until the victory was won But the people have never shown by their actions that they were in earnest in wanting a road

A FEW TAME RESOLUTIONS,

Passed by one or two meetings, outside of the enthusiastic efforts of one or two individuals, is all about that has been done The country ought to blaze with enthusiasm Let Congress know that the people, scattered over an empire teeming with mineral wealth and rich in wonderful agricultural resources, are united in demanding that a highway shall be opened Let a day be set aside when the stores the shops and the offices all over the country shall be closed, and let the people assemble at convenient places and ask Congress for a road—not the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake the Northern Pacific or any other road in particular, but a railroad, leaving it with Congress to decide what road shall be built Let every such community as can afford it, telegraph this demand to our representatives in Congress, and the people of the East will begin to think that there is something more in the bills that are being brought before Congress than the speculating demands of a few subsidy grabbers

I have not the slightest hope that this advice will receive any consideration, but

IT DOES NOT COST ANY PERSON A CENT,

And I have for some time past wanted to relieve myself on this subject, but fear of being called an enthusiast has deterred me Enthusiasm on this subject is not popular in this country

OUR NEW YEAR'S BALL,

Given for the benefit of the school building fund, was a decided success, socially and financially Every one had a good time Dancing was carried on vigorously until 6 o clock in the morning, and enough money was realized to put several shingles on our new school house

STEAMBOAT TRAVELING ON THE SOUND

Is likely to be very cheap during the present season, as a very heavy opposition to the regular mail line will be carried on by Starr Bros, late contractors They will have the North Pacific the Alida and the Eliza Anderson running while the Favorite of the mail line and the Zephyr an outside boat offer accommodations for a larger travel than we are likely to have

HOW A LARGE PARTY CAME TO GRIEF WHILE SLIDING DOWN HILL

[From the Utica Herald Dec 22.]

William B Chandler, merchant aged thirty five Arthur Shirley district school teacher, aged twenty five and John Haynes builder, aged forty all residents of Whitesboro were seriously injured last evening while coasting down the Hampton Hill road From time immemorial this road has been the most tempting coasting route in the vicinity of Whitesboro The length of the coasting ground is about three-quarters of a mile The road crosses the Erie Canal over an iron bridge but a short distance from the main street of Whitesboro The coasting vehicle is a joint stock concern in which the old and young men of the village are equally interested It consists of a pair of light bob sleighs, connected together by a plank sixteen feet in length The steersman of the craft lies upon the plank and directs its course by moving the forward bob with his hands The remainder of the load sit upon the plank spoon fashion, to the number of twenty five or thirty and with a load like this Hampton Hill coasters ride over the three-quarters of a mile from the top of the route to Main street in forty seconds Everything depends upon the steersman who handles the forward bob Numberless accidents have occurred to persons enjoying this sport, but last night's accident is the most serious upon record

The coasting route was flooded yesterday, and its surface was like a sheet of silver About 8 30 P M, twenty three men nearly all over the age of thirty, got upon the bobs W B Chandler was steering and the others occupied places behind About half way down the hill just when the vehicle was moving with the velocity of the wind the king bolt of the steering bob broke and Chandler lost control of the sleigh The sleigh collided with the eastern abutment of the iron bridge, and the whole load was thrown forward with tremendous force Mr Chandler had his collar bone broken his right ear was almost torn from his head his left leg was hurt and he is suffering from severe internal injuries He was carried home and attended by Dr James

Arthur Shirley teacher of the district school, and son of Trustee Shirley had his left leg broken above the knee and was badly bruised Drs Baker and James cared for him

John Haynes suffered the most complicated injuries His left leg was broken in three places once below the knee and twice above it

Of the twenty others William Cole and Charles Williams were bruised about the limbs and Michael Fadders suffers about the ribs The remainder of the load narrowly escaped falling into the canal

WILLIAM McWATERS

CAREER OF THE MURDERER OF GEORGE WEED, OF SPARTA, OREGON

Our readers will remember the account published last fall, of the cold blooded murder of an esteemed young man named George Weed at the village of Sparta in Baker county and the escape of the assassin, who was captured in California and taken to Nebraska to answer for crimes committed by him before his coming to Oregon The murderer's name is Wm McWaters and his career is briefly told in the following letter to the Chicago Times

NEBRASKA CITY, Dec 24—Our district court has just adjourned and the notorious desperado, William McWaters has just been sentenced to twenty one years at hard labor in the Lincoln penitentiary and the ponderous gates have hidden the criminal from the world in which he regarded human life no more than a sportsman does a prairie chicken He was young in years, but graduated early among the bushwhackers of Missouri and is known from Nebraska to Oregon as the terrible McWaters—a living personification of just such characters as figure in dime novels and fill up the measure of glory in saloon literature. His history will be written and go down to posterity with that of John A Murrill and other disturbers of society, and the long night of prison penance will only throw a deeper interest around his fate

William McWaters was born in Platte county Missouri, the year after the great flood, 1844 His mother was a Kentucky woman of superior character But we know nothing of his early days till at the moulding age of twelve years he followed the pro slavery raiders over into Kansas and

LEARNED TO LOVE BLOOD

And hate the abolitionists at Osawatomie and other skirmishes In these pursuits he was a kind of free rover for two years

Soon after the rebellion broke out he joined a company of the boys who burnt the Platte bridge and precipitated a Hannibal and St Joe railroad train into an awful chasm killing many of the passengers, because Federal soldiers were among them Then he enlisted with Jim Giddins' band, and fought under General Price for six months On coming back home to Bee creek he found the family residence burnt, his father and brother killed by the militia and the rest of the family driven off in banishment So he associated himself with Bill Anderson John and Fletch Taylor and other desperate bushwhackers, and resolved to sacrifice

A HUNDRED LIVES FOR ONE,

In revenge and did pick off Captain Cheeseman and 30 or 40 of his men, who were quartered in the neighborhood But the rising glory of Quantrell drew them over into Kansas again where McWaters found congenial work in the sacking and burning of Lawrence.

Quantrell afterward carried his freebooters into Arkansas, and there they fell out among themselves over a woman and the sanguinary Bill Anderson drew away from Quantrell and raided back through Northern Missouri like a flame of fire over the prairies, carrying young McWaters in his train, who had many adventures more strange than fiction, and was assisted out of many hair breadth escapes by

A FAIR HEROINE

Named Jennie Mayfield

At the close of the war we find McWaters keeping a saloon in Platte City where he shot a man, and his friend, John Taylor, was shot by the police He then escaped to St. Joe, which was seething with desperadoes from all parts, where his other friend, Fletch Taylor was shot dead by the police, and McWaters in return shot the policeman

By the aid of Confederates, he got out of Missouri and came to Wyoming, in this county where a romantic attachment sprung up between him and a beautiful young lady, who was to have married his friend Fletch Taylor, and he was the groomsman, and they were on the way up when the affray took place in St Joe which ended the career of Fletch Taylor Miss Susie Davis wedded McWaters and, through thick and thin, has idolized her husband—the one bright picture in this narrative

Two years ago McWaters shot Dr Wolfe dead in a row in Wyoming, and soon after his brother-in-law Woodson, who is a cousin of Governor Woodson of Missouri shot Barlow dead and is now serving a term in the penitentiary for it McWaters was cleared But about a year afterward John Crook and he shot and killed an innocent man in Dold's saloon in this city They were caught and shut up in an iron cage where it seemed they were very safe for trial But one evening, when the guards were shifting them, they managed to steal the arms and,

AT THE PISTOL'S MOUTH

Drove the guards into the cage, locked them in and escaped on horses which had been placed outside by friends

In the Indian nation the men separated in bad blood and McWaters for whom a large reward was offered was again caught at Hays City, Kansas But while the sheriff's posse was making the prison safe for him he executed the old manœuvre and suddenly shut six of them inside while he escaped on the sheriff's horse

He then made his way northward among the Blackfoot Indians and shot one of them dead over a bottle of whisky, and has his blankets yet, with the bullet holes he running the gauntlet of the whole tribe

We next hear of McWaters at the little town of Sparta in Baker county, Oregon, where he visited a relative, and had

A FAMOUS NEEDLE-GUN,

With which he murdered a man named Geo Weed, with whom he had a quarrel in a gambling house The man had gone off some distance but had on a soldier's blue coat, and McWaters could not resist the temptation of letting fly a charge at his brass buttons shooting him in the back and escaping to Sacramento city with a new reward of $1 000 offered for his arrest

But all this time Sheriff Farbar of Nebraska City who started for his official honors had detectives on his track and Tom Tippet who once lived here in the Seymour House with McWaters spotted his lurking place and he was suddenly

PINIONED BY THE OFFICERS OF THE LAW,

And brought back to Nebraska City

The result has been told He has a dozen scars on his person and bullet holes in his body, and a dozen times has escaped from prison and his rollicking stories would fill a book He is thoroughly educated in deeds of violence and never talks about anything else with relish but getting the drop" on some one He rides like a Comanche and is as cool and wily as Modoc Jack His clear, steel eye never glows except with the excitement of an affray He has a fine figure and might have been a gentleman—an Aubrey or a Kit Carson But a man who always goes around with pistols to hunt up a fight is no longer desirable in Nebraska society, and Judge Gantt has the praise of all parties in banishing him to a living grave

THE SCENE

When his devoted wife and two pretty children were torn away from him and he was ironed for the penitentiary was such as the hardest hearts could not contemplate and the officers of the court shed tears McWaters himself completely broke down and the spirits of his many gory victims must have tortured his memory like "the worm that never dies" and the voice of condemnation thundered in his ears, The way of the transgressor is hard

At the annual election of the first Presbyterian Sunday school in Salem held last Sunday, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year J M Martin Superintendent, J W Crawford Assistant Superintendent J H Albert Treasurer Frank McDowell Secretary and Librarian L S Adair, Chorister, Miss Dora Hernandez, Organist

WHAT CAN OREGON EXHIBIT?

PORTLAND, Jan 11, 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

This question has been frequently asked us, when urging prominent citizens of our State to the importance of immediate action if we expect to have Oregon creditably represented at the coming exhibition to be held in Philadelphia in 1876 It seems to me that a more appropriate question to be asked in connection with this subject would be What is there of real material wealth produced from the rivers and seas from the soil, forests and mines, in which our State cannot make a creditable display, and in a majority of cases even excel if our people will only bring themselves to make the required effort?

In the classification of articles for exhibition department 1 group 13, includes 'logs and sections of trees samples of wood of all kinds, worked timber and lumber for building, lichens, mosses and ferns gums, resins, &c In this department what would give a State more notoriety or our own Oregon a better advertisement, than specimens of our red and yellow fir timber the finest in the world for piles, docks masts and spars taken from perfectly sound trees, ranging from 30 inches in diameter and 315 feet in highth, to others of still greater altitude and a diameter of 15 feet? What would be of more interest to the Eastern capitalist, or more creditable to any State than a display of shooks, staves and heading shingles, clap-boards, bolts, boards, finishing lumber, flooring and siding manufactured from our beautiful white spruce and cedar with sections of the same valuable timber taken from trees from six to ten feet in diameter, and 200 feet without a limb The fir timber in its most gigantic proportions and symmetry of form may be found on Blind Slough, in Columbia county Butte Creek, Clackamas county, and in fact, in a score of other localities in the State The spruce and cedar in abundance grows to perfection along the lower Columbia and the base of the Coast range, from which the most magnificent specimens for exhibition could be obtained Although California has the famous big trees they are of no practical utility, and we believe that for useful timber Oregon and Washington Territory are not surpassed in the whole world These timbers scarcely equal in value and importance our beautiful ornamental, cabinet, finishing and furniture material, and the whole combined are scarcely a tithing of the immense resources Oregon has to place before the world at the Centennial Exhibition Shall the spring of 1876 find the people of our State just awakening to the fact that the entire civilized world has contributed the choicest products of art, science, literature and mechanical skill, to assist in celebrating the centennial birthday of our nationality? Shall other States and Territories be represented in their mineral, mechanical and agricultural productions at this grand exhibition and Oregon, so rich in all the natural material that goes to make a people prosperous, happy and permanently blest, neglect this golden opportunity of advertising to the world the immense resources of her undeveloped wealth?

OREGON

The 'city' of Independence will build a town jail immediately

Hon W R. Dunbar, Grand Worthy Chief Templar of the State on the 7th inst. reorganized Monmouth Lodge, I. O G T, with a good membership

Independence has already sent over 35,000 pounds of pork to market, and has some 20-000 pounds of fine hams, shoulders and sides bacon, also a splendid lot of pure lard.

Mayor Wright, of Salem received a telegram from Omaha directing him to send all donations to the Nebraska Relief and Aid Society It also stated that provisions are much needed

McCord & Smith of Independence, have shipped this season 40 000 bushels of wheat Claggett & Butler have shipped about 30,000 bushels There is yet unsold some 60,000 bushels at that point

The officers of Howell Prairie Grange No 80 were publicly installed last Saturday by Mr B A Witzel, County Deputy There was a large number present After the ceremony a good dinner was served, and a good social reunion took place

The Statesman says The laws and ordinance passed by the board of trustees of the town of Independence on or before January 5 1876 will go into full force and effect on the 16th inst I Vandyne is president of the town board, and we presume ex-officio mayor

The Salem Record says: "The Oregon and California Railroad Company sent to Mr D L. Riggs last week one of their large engine bells, which had cracked, and cracked horizontally in the worst place Mr Riggs, by his recently patented process mended it so that it has now all its original strength and tone. Mr Riggs is anxious to get a chance at the old Liberty bell that once hung on Independence Hall, Philadelphia. By this process the old bell can be made to ring at the Centennial as clear and as vigorous as in 1775"

GETTING THE BEST OF HIS PARISHION—The Worcester Spy has the following Old Dr Strong of Hartford, was not often outwitted On one occasion he had invited a young minister to preach for him, who proved rather a dull speaker and whose [illegible] was unusually long, The people became wearied, and as Dr Strong lived near the bridge, about the time for the commencement of the afternoon service, he saw his people flocking across the river to the other church He readily understood that they feared that they should hear the same young man in the afternoon Gathering up his wits, which generally came at his bidding he said to the young minister "My brother across the river is very feeble and I know he will take it kindly to have you preach to his people and if you will do so I will give you a note to him, and be as much obliged to you as I would to have you preach for me and I want you to preach the same sermon you preached to my people this morning The young minister, supposing this to be a commendation of his sermon started off in good spirits delivered his note and was invited to preach most cordially He saw before him one-half of Dr Strong's people, and they had to listen one hour and a half to the same humdrum sermon that they heard in the morning They understood the joke however, and said they would never undertake to run away from Dr Strong again

A WOMAN'S DRAWBACK.—The St Louis Republican says Mrs Mary Clemmer Ames has been divorced from her husband and bears the name of Mrs Mary Clemmer And now she will have to work several years to get her new name up to the point of celebrity which she had reached under the old one The chief drawback to the attainment of fame by a woman is that there is no certainty this year what her name will be the next and thus the work of a life time may be swept away in a moment There is one woman however, who does not labor under any such disadvantage and as a consequence she is the most famous woman in the world Of course we refer to our old friend Susan B Anthony Her name is immutable

SUFFERING KANSAS AND NEBRASKA

The grasshopper plague which swept over the greater part of Kansas and part of Nebraska last summer, consumed all the growing crops and left thousands of the inhabitants of those States in a pitiable condition They are without food and clothing, and are equally destitute of the means for procuring them Winter is upon them, and in the extreme of their sufferings they appeal to their more favored countrymen in the East and West, for help The petition is one which human nature can not resist It has reached the people of Oregon, and we cannot think it must be heard in vain In the Eastern States much has been done The New York Tribune alone has received $5 000 in dollar subscriptions All the great cities have contributed liberally in money, food and clothing The people of San Francisco are moving in the matter, and Oregon should not be behind We are glad to hear that Salem has already made liberal donations in flour and other necessaries. What will Portland do? Hitherto our citizens have generously contributed to every good cause Let us not be slow to honor this requisition, remembering always that when misfortune came upon us the people of our common country were quick to tender aid and sympathy

SENATORSHIPS AT STAKE

Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut, New York, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, Tennessee, New Jersey and Louisiana, with three or four other States, are to elect United States Senators this spring. In the first named State the candidates most spoken of are Henry L Dawes, Alexander H Bullock, E R Hoar, W B Washburn (present Senator), Judge Chas Devens (of the [illegible] Court), ex-Chief Justice Bigelow, Charles Francis Adams, Judge Colt (of the [illegible] Bench), Prof. Seelye and N P Banks. These candidates are not named in the order of their strength It is conceded on all sides that Dawes' chances are slim and constantly growing slimmer Ex Gov Bullock is one of the ablest men in Massachusetts. He has a superior education, great political sagacity and nerve, and would make a worthy successor to Charles Sumner. He is an independent Republican, opposed the renomination of Grant in 1872, and was a fast friend to Sumner all through the latter's contests in the Senate As an orator, Gov Bullock has few equals in New England

In Maine, as our dispatches have already indicated, Hannibal Hamlin has made a clean sweep by caucus. There is nothing bad about him, and nothing particularly good. He is an average specimen of good luck, and a sort of morality that can't be helped In New York, it is understood that the contest is now between Francis Kernan (Liberal) and Horatio Seymour and Henry C Murphy (Dems), with the chances, if there are any differences in favor of Kernan No one can tell from one minute to another what Reuben E. Fenton is going to do, however In Wisconsin, Matt. Carpenter is making a hard fight, but there is a strong opposition to him among Republicans to Zach Chandler, the "bright, particular star" alluded to by the New York Tribune a few days since, is very much perturbed over the situation in Michigan just now It looks squally for Zachariah In Indiana, Voorhees and McDonald are contending for Bourbon votes. No one knows anything about Missouri It would be well if Carl Schurz, who has no superior in the Senate to-day, could be returned, but there is little hope of this It is said that Andrew Johnson is gaining strength in Tennessee Dr Redfield, correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writes of him

> 'Up and down the line, among friends and enemies alike, it is understood that this is the old man's last fight If he wins this term, it is for six years and he will hardly ever want office again and if he fails, he can never get it again So all are coming up to the scratch with long finger-nails and bloodshot eyes, and wool will fly

Attorney General Gilchrist (Dem) appears to be the strongest candidate in New Jersey Geo S Robeson, Secretary of the Navy, wanted the Senatorship badly, but he was caught in bad company at the November elections It is to be presumed that the Administration wants Kellogg in the Senate from Louisiana Unless we greatly mistake the signs of the times, he will have a merry time getting there.

WHAT FLANAGAN SAID

Flanagan said that "he never would make a contract with a Democrat.' Now Flanagan is a Senator occupying the seat once occupied by Wigfall, and whatever he says is entitled to the thoughtful consideration of every patriot Having set his Texan foot down thus solidly, Flanagan was not the man to withdraw it until he had stated with all the solemnity the occasion demanded (Grant's Louisiana 'indiscretion' was under debate) the real origin of this extraordinary resolution Flanagan would not make a contract with a Democrat because he had no faith in the nature of the beast 'A Democrat,' says Flanagan, 'would sell you out at the first opportunity' And then this distrustful Texan went on to explain how many murders these commercially inclined individuals had committed in his State

Let no man suppose Flanagan spoke lightly or in jest, for it is apparent that 'in clear dream and solemn vision' he saw the shadowy procession of innumerable "bleeding negroes" struck down on the plains of Texas just as Sheridan said—butchered to make a White League holiday It occurs to us this long haired son of Freedom is giving his State an exceeding bad reputation on the floor of the Senate, but then that is none of our business Flanagan, be it known, is talking in the direct line of his duty as a member of the Senate Committee on Education along with Hipple whose intimate knowledge of school marms in the concrete admirably fits him for suggesting practical reforms in our educational system

Evidently, Flanagan is the Bulletin's Senator He can manufacture outrages at a moment's warning, and in a single sentence improve on the ancient epigram about horse thieves and liars. In the hands of the Bulletin and affronted Bourbon newspapers we leave J W. Flanagan of Texas Still, if we may be allowed a Parthian arrow, we would suggest that the most diabolical outrage the people of Texas ever committed was the thrusting of J W F into the Senate

THERE'S MILLIONS IN IT

Deep in the bowels of the earth, amid virgin ores and solid tons of native silver, lay a Senatorship for Wm M Sharon He digged and delved, and now comes shouting to the light, bringing his costly prize with him He found it in a bonanza An impressible Legislature, elected by an impressible constituency, has formally conferred upon him the dignity of a United States Senator Nevada sends him to keep company with President Grant's chamberlain, John Jones with a P She now has in the Senate two individuals who, according to the fevered imagination of her people, rival the Rothschilds in wealth Last night the Sierras shook their snowy crowns in exultation, the sober sagebrush was tremulous with joy, and whisky flowed in torrents through Carson Gold Hill, Virginia City and a hundred other hamlets where the virtues of the bonanza have been recognized

Who is Sharon? Whence does he come and how long did it take him to get here? Well, he used to be plain Bill Sharon, on change Two years ago he wasn't any great shakes He came near bankruptcy in a row with certain other stock sharps But in those two years he has made several lucky hits in speculation His good fortune was something remarkable. So rapidly did he retrieve, that in 1874 he was enabled to startle the world by a wedding gift of one million dollars, purchase two or three newspapers in Nevada, subsidize a half dozen in California, and scatter over all the world reports of his fabulous wealth and high renown A few months ago he conceived the notion of digging for the Senatorship As we have said, he has found it

Sharon's competitor, Henry K Mitchell, is well known to all former residents in Northern California In 1859 he was a lawyer in Marysville, shrewd, industrious and talented Removing to Nevada about the time Chas E DeLong left Marysville for that State, he entered into politics, and speedily became a leading Democratic manager He is well off, but lacking Sharon's sinews of war he has failed.

Sharon is a man of great energy and business ability We do not know that he has much tact, but he certainly has an irresistible way of going at a legislature No one ever gave him credit for an accurate knowledge of morals in politics, and he goes to the Senate on the strength of his coin—a luck-made man. What Yellow Jacket did for Jones in 1873, Consolidated Virginia has done for Sharon in 1875, Stewart, with his pagoda, steps down and out In comes Sharon, with his bonanza, a veritable statesman of the period All hail to Sharon, shoddy Senator par excellence!

This is what the Chicago Tribune a good administration paper, says about the work of the Louisiana Returning Board 'It is impossible to say now whether these returns are honest or fraudulent The Republicans in Louisiana of course, maintain one thing, and the Democrats another It is pretty certain, however, that the publication of the returns would be a signal for civil war if the city of New Orleans were not in the keeping of United States troops The Congressional Committee of Investigation now on its way to New Orleans may suggest some measure of relief for that State The Republican administration there at present is not such as Northern Republicans care to be responsible for It would be far better to restrict the powers of the Returning Board, and repeal the infamous laws which now disgrace the statute books of Louisiana, at the expense of losing the State to the Republican party, than to perpetuate Republican rule by unworthy means The prayerful consideration of the Bulletin is respectfully solicited

The new postal arrangement with Canada provides that each country will transmit the domestic mails of the other in closed pouches through its territory, free of charge by its ordinary mail routes This means that hereafter postage to all parts of Canada will be uniform with the rates of this country—three cents for letters and one cent for every two ounces of papers at present

An editorial item which appeared ten days ago in the OREGONIAN, announcing that on Dec. 29th the Chicago Times would change editors and managers, was based on what is now shown to be a gross blunder on the part of a newspaper agent in the East The dispatch should have been dated at St Louis, Mo, instead of Chicago The St Louis Times was the paper meant

THE LEOPARD BOY

HE IS ADMITTED TO BE A LEPER

The San Francisco Chronicle of Jan 5th has the following about a monstrosity which was on exhibition at the Oregon State Fair last year

Caspar H Hobing and Alexander Belmont were tried yesterday in the police court on charges of misdemeanor in maintaining a public exhibition of the deformities of a boy and girl known as the Leopard Boy and Fairy Queen Officer Morehouse testified that under directions from his superior, he visited the show on Market street and paid twenty five cents for admission to one of the defendants at the door the other one being on the inside exhibiting the curiosities The officer described that he found the Leopard Boy to be a negro boy about fourteen years of age who was almost entirely nude, and whose black skin was covered with large and small spots The Fairy Queen was a miniature female gaudily dressed who was hardly able to converse intelligently The defendants admitted the fact of the exhibit on but contended that the matter did not come under the jurisdiction of the court, inasmuch as the boy and girl were not deformed in any manner The boy was brought into court His face and head bore the strange marks as well as his body The defense in the most nonchalant manner imaginable, admitted the horrible fact that the boy was a leper and that the mysterious spots on his body were but the foot prints of that insidious disease, leprosy The defendant's attorney made the announcement in the belief that inasmuch as leprosy was not a deformity his clients would immediately be discharged The announcement created the utmost consternation in the court room and the judge immediately ordered the defendants to appear for sentence The prosecuting attorney suggested to the court that the defendants deserved even more punishment for daring to introduce so horrible an exhibition into the public midst

THE LOUISIANA OUTRAGE.

AN EXCITING DEBATE IN THE SENATE ON LOUISIANA AFFAIRS—SPEECH OF SENATOR GORDON OF GEORGIA

WASHINGTON, Jan 6 —In the debate in the Senate to-day Mr Gordon of Georgia said he could not hold his voice when the people whom he loved were held up to the gaze of the civilized world as murderers and assassins He could not have believed that Senators with whom he had come in familiar association could entertain such a feeling of animosity of hate and bitterness toward the people whom he represented He had hoped this feeling of hate was dying out in the north but if it was again to be stirred up in this way we had better know—there is nothing left for us but to die But he did not believe the great Northern people would sanction such a policy We had been threatened yesterday with the brave men whom we met during the war but he did not believe that any considerable portion of these brave men coincided with the sentiments expressed on this floor No people in the world had been more cruelly misrepresented and misjudged than the people of the South never since the close of the war has a single white man in the South raised his arm in opposition to the Federal government, and yet the South is constantly branded as hostile to the government Men come down among us who have no interest in common with us they hold offices make our laws, levy our taxes and spend them and we endeavor lawfully to regain our rights, and then we are stigmatized as assassins as murderers and as disloyal to the Federal government Black militia roam over the country rob, murder and commit crimes which he would not name on this floor and when the Southern people rose up to defend themselves they were denounced as assassins. When is this misjudging of the Southern people to stop If his voice and gesture were tremulous with emotion, it was not an emotion of anger but the emotion of indignation over the outrages perpetrated upon his people He stood aghast at the spectacle presented here yesterday of an attempt to ruin the fair name and fame of the country There had been much said about intimidation but the Republicans might have every judge and every other officer in the State they might control but yet they were always being intimidated Might there not be intimidation on the other side? He here read from the Chicago Inter Ocean of the Congressional investigation in Louisiana, where it was testified that government bacon was given for the sufferers by the overflow which had been carried to the Republican headquarters and distributed the night before the election that negroes had been whipped and turned out of church for voting the Democratic ticket that in one county there had been fifteen cases of murder of negroes by Republicans He also read from the testimony of a Republican candidate for the Legislature in Rapides Parish, that at the election he was defeated by several hundred votes, but the returning board had counted him in [Mr Gordon was several times applauded in the galleries when the Chairman Mr Sargent, directed that the applause must be stopped, as it was contrary to the rules of the Senate] The Senator from Indiana Mr Morton, had said that all explanations of what was done in the South were stigmatized as lies The Senator said that 10 000 times 10 000 lies came up from the South, he said all the Associated Press agents in the South were liars This was not so but what does the Senator say of the press of New York, the Herald Times and Tribune? Why did he not denounce them as liars? Because he cowered before the power of the leading Northern journals and dared not say it [Applause in the galleries when the Chair (Sargent) gave notice that a repetition would result in an order to clear them] Continuing, Gordon declared his belief that those who professed such a desire for law and order in the South really wanted disorder knowing that peace meant their overthrow Mr President, the men who talk about disorder in the South and who cry peace don't want peace they desire murder The face they present to the North is one of harmony and peace but toward the South it is the face of hate and revenge. When the North knows the South and the South knows the North when each man can look down into the heart of his fellow countrymen, then there will be no place for them Like the teaser in a bull fight their fangs are dipped in blood they hope to goad the South by every torture of desperation to do something which may arouse the North These men talk of murder, but it does not seem to them that there is anything in the murder of the Constitution, in the murder of a State, in the murder of an orderly people The Senator from Indiana says the whole South is armed This is not so There is not a man armed now where there were a thousand armed before the war More than one half of the white population of the South have no arms whatever not even old fashioned shotguns The Senator from Vermont said the people of the South were semi barbarous, and suggested a comparison between them and the people of his own section He (Mr Gordon) would not imitate such a spirit He would do nothing to detract from the glory and honor of the people that the Senator represented

Mr Edmunds asked Mr Gordon to point out where he made use of such language

Mr Gordon—The Senator's words were burnt into my memory and will not out

Mr Edmunds said that the Senator could not get over in that way the audacity with which he had assumed to make statements here of the position of other Senators

Mr Gordon—I am responsible for my statements

Mr Edmunds—Of course responsibility is a very good thing

Mr Gordon—The want of it is something very excellent.

Mr Gordon then read from Mr Edmund's speech of yesterday to the effect that "when the people of the South brought to justice their associates who committed murder upon their fellow citizens for no cause but opinion's sake then shall I begin to have some faith that our Southern brothers who, it seems have not yet forgotten all the manners and ways of semi barbarous times have thought better of it and then I shall begin to have some faith that whatever wrongs may occur in any of these States will be properly corrected Mr Gordon in conclusion expressed his perfect conviction that the people of the North could not be rallied to this new persecution of the South He had come here with his heart full of good will toward every person of the country bringing an expression of the same feeling from all his people His faith was as strong as it was in the great throne of Jehovah that right, truth and justice will prevail and that the people of the North and South will stand together on a common ground for the common good of the whole country

EDMUNDS REPLY YOU BE A REBEL

Mr Edmunds said When the solemnity of the occasion caused by the sermon of the Senator from Georgia has been removed, I would like to say a few words in reply to the observations of that Senator concerning myself The Senator has misstated me in saying that I had accused the Southern white people of being semi barbarous when what I stated was that manners in the South previous to the war were semi barbarous The Senator complains of this, and when he is interrupted he answers not in a graceful manner for the street nor for the field of battle but he on this floor in language which certainly is now regarded as semi barbarous says he is responsible Well Mr President does not that remind you of some of the old scenes in this chamber before the war when a certain Senator used the same language? If this is an evidence of the culture of the gentleman and those whom he represents I am willing to leave it there The Senator has said a great deal about the glory shed upon the country by Southern men of the past but he had omitted to mention the recent time when men of the South lifted their hands, not for a common country, but to destroy that country The Senator had spoken of Washington Henry Marshall Taney and other illustrious names but not the names of Jeff Davis Toombs and others that he might mention I did not however wish to refer to this

WHAT MR FLANAGAN SAID

Mr Flanagan of Texas said that not half the truth had been told about the outrages and murders in the South He had lived there longer than the Senator from Georgia and knew as much about it He had no faith in a Democrat He never would make a contract with a Democrat because he would sell you out at the first opportunity

CARPENTER TO THE FRONT AGAIN —As I predicted at the outset of the session Henry Wilson soon became tired of sitting in the Senate wielding the gavel He pined for past obscurity and yesterday he left the city and will only return for short visits during the winter Carpenter was to day again re-elected President of the Senate pro tem He is looking very well now a days He walks the streets of the city with an elastic tread, as if all his doubts about his future were settled He has given up his loaferish, rakish, soft hat and pushes down upon his iron gray mane a polished silk tile His martial figure is shown to a good advantage in a close fitting double breasted frock. Indeed, his sweeping mustache and waving, long hair are now the only indications of the strong Bohemian element that lurks under his mask of the statesman

Brilliant handsome, and witty he is more generally liked here in Washington than almost any other Senator He is a man who can venture to say witty things without the thought of having compromised his dignity Brilliancy and wickedness are fascinating elements in a character and that accounts in a measure for Carpenter's popularity here Carpenter is fully as good as the average Congressman in that point only he is a little more careless A visit to Chamberlain's gambling hell the other evening convinced me that a large number of Congressmen whom I thought such good men are very wild boys It was depressing to witness statesmen studying the financial question in such quarters —Crauford in the [illegible]

IRWIN AT THE BAR OF THE HOUSE —Washington Jan [illegible] —Mr Dawes of Massachusetts then offered the following which was adopted

Ordered That the speaker propound to the person in custody the following questions First—Give the names of persons whom you employed to aid you in procuring a subsidy from Congress in 1872 for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company? Second—What was the largest sum paid by you to any one person to aid in procuring that subsidy?

Mr Irwin, who had with the sergeant at arms retired to the cloak room was brought to the bar and the questions severally put by the Speaker To the first he replied I decline to answer, for the reason given To the second he answered $225 000

THE IMMIGRATION COMMISSIONERS.

To the people of Oregon Entrusted by the Legislature to take charge of immigrants arriving in the State, and of inducing immigration from foreign countries to Oregon without funds to enable us to do so, we are compelled to rely on the generosity of the public and solicit subscriptions for the objects we have in view

The many letters we have received from sister States and foreign countries satisfy us that by carefully disseminating information abroad as to Oregon, and selecting for that purpose honorary State commissioners in these countries, a large immigration would result Thousands in Europe and the United States are looking for a country with a combination of advantages, such as we possess and who, if their attention was directed to Oregon would come and settle amongst us From Great Britain, we are informed by one of the gentlemen lately appointed an emigration commissioner and who recently visited us, that many of the small farmers with means are desiring authentic information about Oregon but cannot procure the same Again complaints are made that when emigrants do arrive amongst us, we give them neither attention guidance nor information and do not tell them where to get government State or farm lands, and as a natural consequence they discourage their friends, who would have followed them from coming here In every overland train on the Pacific railway there are on board a number of emigrants destined for Oregon who are turned back in California for want of authentic information about our State From New Zealand and Australia (Great Britain s colonies) we have also letters enquiring as to our country It is to supply these wants and to attend to immigration generally that we, at the Governor's request, accept office as honorary immigration commissioners But while we and the committee of immigration, appointed by the board of trade to assist us, do cheerfully give out services gratuitously, can not nevertheless carry on an immigration scheme for the benefit of this State without funds Already we have had appointed Emigration Commissioners in a few foreign countries who are crying out for printed matter, statistics, pamphlets, etc These we cannot supply without money, and seeing the legislature has voted nothing toward the objects in view, we must appeal to the citizens of Oregon to contribute liberally

We would especially ask contributions from Portland, Salem Albany, Corvallis, Eugene City, and other towns in the valley and Eastern Oregon Immigrants come here as a rule not to settle in Portland but in the country districts amongst the farmers, and consequently all the country towns are much benefited by immigration

We would also recommend (1) that every country town arrange a committee of immigration to whose care we would forward immigrants for guidance and assistance and (2) that the people of every county raise funds amongst themselves to print a small pamphlet descriptive of the county s local advantages for settlers and send the same to us for distribution abroad, on the steamers, and among immigrants when they arrive The county so contributing funds toward giving immigrants information of its lands etc, in this way secures entirely the benefit of its subscriptions.

Another mode in which the people will materially aid our labors and benefit immigrants, is by informing us of all situations vacant, or where employment can be obtained in the different portions of the State Many immigrants call upon us enquiring where labor may be obtained who would for themselves thus be comfortably provided and would also be developing the State

We have secured a favorable contract with one of the Atlantic Steamship Companies for European emigrants, and are negotiating with the various railroad companies for reduced emigrant passages to Oregon All the railroad and steamship companies within the State have generously agreed to convey immigrants to all parts of the interior at half the usual rates

There are other objects which we are carrying out or have in view relative to immigration, of which we will hereafter inform you, meantime, for the information of the people, the following is the organization we have adopted

OBJECTS OF THE STATE BOARD OF IMMIGRATION

1 To receive and take charge of immigrants arriving in the State give them advice and guidance to settle, according to their occupations and circumstances

2 To procure from the railroad and transportation companies for immigrants proceeding to the interior, cheap steamer and railroad fare

3 To print authentic information as to the various counties of this States for gratuitous circulation and to be handed to immigrants on their arrival

4 To forward abroad and in the other States samples of the various grains fruits, lumber and other products of this State

5 To keep a record and maps for use of immigrants of the State public and private lands and farms for sale, the Board in no way undertaking sales of such lands but simply referring immigrants to the owners, or agents of owners

6 To keep a Labor Record, where all employers wishing male or female servants and skilled labor may enroll their names and wants which record shall be open to and be examined by immigrants wishing situations

7 To distribute in the United States and foreign countries pamphlets statistics and details of the State s resources and also to forward same to the State s Immigration Commissioners in Europe and elsewhere

8 To procure at the request and expense of any citizen desiring it, whatever agricultural or skilled labor he may wish from abroad through the State s honorary commissioners, and forward to them conditions for settlement of small colonies wished by citizens

9 To attend to all other immigration matters for the benefit of this State not herein embraced

In carrying out these desirable objects we feel that we are not personally able to undertake all the duties required and accordingly the Board of Trade of Portland have at our request appointed an immigration committee of six who have generously agreed to give us their assistance and co operate with us

But as already stated the citizens must also now assist us Every resident of Oregon will directly or indirectly be benefited by immigration and hence one and all must cheerfully contribute to the best of their ability"

With that view the following gentlemen have been appointed to collect subscriptions

Portland—E. J Northrup, Jas A Strowbridge upper ward D W Williams, P W Gillette middle ward; Capt Ankeny, George V James lower ward

Salem—C A Reed R M Wade Jas Clark

Albany—Thomas Monteith W P Burkhart, Geo R Helm

PAY WHILE YOU READ THIS! The season for parties and balls has arrived and the cold dreary days and nights of winter will soon visit us Every young man or man and boy for that matter likes to present a neat appearance when attending parties the theater or walking about the streets. They likewise desire to be well provided against the cold blasts of snow and rain What contributes more to the personal appearance and comfort of a gentleman or boy than a nice closely fitting suit of clothes set off with a heavy warm overcoat? Why will any one be so foolish as to go without either when BECK & WALDMAN have everything in that line Beck & Waldman in laying in their immense fall and winter stock of clothing have exercised great care and selected with reference to the demands of trade They have purchased their goods low and are determined not to be undersold Let the public note this fact

The Chemistry of the Stomach.

As in the more delicate processes of the laboratory it is essential that the re agents employed to produce chemical changes in matter should be uncontaminated so also it is imperatively necessary that the fluids of the stomach which act chemically upon the food should be perfectly pure When the stomach is acid it is because these fluids are vitiated or diluted Similarly other forms of indigestion arise from a deficiency of the chemical properties of the gastric juices The most direct and agreeable way to restore their purity and improve their quality is to take before each meal a wineglassful of Hostetter s Stomach Bitters which corrects acidity renders digestion complete and painless and overcome the constipation which it produces The nervousness and weakness resulting from chronic dyspepsia also disappear under its influence

RIVER AND COAST IMPROVEMENTS.

Improvements are being made at Smith's Island, and also at Admiralty Head At the former place, repairs of a general character are being made A new cistern is being constructed at Admiralty Head to supply the fog signal with water the old one being of insufficient capacity

For several months past work has been going forward at Cape Flattery lighthouse Buildings for keepers are being repaired new sheds constructed, and various improvements made No intelligence has been received from that point for some time and probably ere the present writing the work there is completed

Along the Columbia work has been completed at Squally Hook The men and barges, together with all the required appliances, have been transferred to Upper Umatilla rapids, about 70 miles above the last mentioned point Although the weather is extremely severe, and a considerable quantity of ice in the river, Capt. Randall reports that everything is quite favorable to the effective and rapid prosecution of the work

Mr Wheeler is now at the Point Adams light house making the necessary inspections He is also engaged in adjusting the lenses, and will in a few days, test the quality and intensity of the light Cold weather has necessitated a temporary suspension of the work about the building Nothing more will be done, excepting, perhaps to finish the rooms for the keepers During the present state of the weather it is deemed impracticable to finish the work according to the terms of the contract

It is now settled beyond all doubt that the reconnoissance of Snake river, from Lewiston to the Shoshone falls—a distance of several hundred miles—as authorized last season by act of Congress, will not be made this winter Even had not not the present cold spell come, it would have been impracticable to make the reconnoissance in the winter season For the distance the stream is to be examined the Snake brawls over a succession of rapids and rolls its angry waters between the precipitous walls of canyons, while it finds its head away up in the snowy regions of the Three Tetons During the winter months snow lies to a great depth on the mountains through which the river forces a passage to the Columbia proper, and the stream is frequently filled with masses of floating ice Under ordinary circumstances the journey could not be safely or satisfactorily accomplished in the winter but during the existing condition of the weather it would be utterly impossible. A party will probably not be made up here before early next May

A short time since Lieut Kempff was appointed by the lighthouse board an inspector of lighthouses for the thirteenth district, to reside at Astoria. The thirteenth district comprises all the lighthouses fog signals etc along the coast from the southern boundary of Oregon to the northern boundary of Washington Territory In compliance with instructions Lieut. Kempff has taken up his residence in Astoria Until quite recently the twelfth lighthouse district comprised all the coast from Southern California to the extreme northern limits of Washington Territory Capt Spotts has been inspector of the district for some time Recently the district was divided into two—twelfth and thirteenth The twelfth district as now divided, embraces that portion of the coast between the northern and southern limits of the State of California. The limits of the thirteenth district have already been given Orders were issued a short time since relieving Capt Spotts of the inspectorship of the twelfth district and appointing in his stead Capt Sneff who is to reside in San Francisco Capt. Spotts is now awaiting orders from the department It is quite probable that that very competent and trustworthy officer will be appointed to take charge of Mare island

THE BURNING MINE EXTINGUISHED —The Allentown (Penn) Register says that the explorers have reported that the last particle of fire had disappeared from the recent burning mine of the Wilkesbarre Coal and Iron Company This extinguishment is a triumph of steam as a means of putting out coal mine fires, and has demonstrated its efficiency on a larger and more conclusive scale than ever before. The burning of this mine began months ago and the flames, which were spread over an immense area were conquered only after combating them eight weeks and using all the steam that eight huge boilers, kept hot night and day, could supply to the tightly sealed up mine

A SUICIDE S WILL — My soul to the God who gave it There was filed in the probate court of Alameda county Cal recently the following peculiar will of the late William H Maiben the Oakland painter who left his home in Oakland on Christmas Eve and was neither heard of nor seen until his lifeless body was discovered on New Year s Eve dangling from the limb of a tree on Livermore's ranch, near Oakland The numerous letters written by deceased indicated that he had well premeditated suicide The original of the following will which is now filed for probate, is written on a fly leaf of deceased s family Bible and reads

In the name of God Amen ' I Wm Halmes Maiben of the city of Oakland considering myself in a sound state of mind make this my last and only will and testament My soul to the God who gave it my body to the doctors for dissection or to the grave and all my worldly possessions to my wife Mary (once Mary Job), of the town of Panzanec, Cornwall, England

Given under my hand this 13th day of December 1870 W H MAIBEN

Witness CHAS CORELL, JOHN ROSS —S F Chronicle, Jan 7th

AN ANCIENT LITERARY PRODUCTION —A translation of the oldest fairy tale in the world is given in the current number of Macmillan s Magazine It appears that in 1852 an English lady acquired a roll of papyrus inscribed with hieroglyphic characters, which she submitted to the Vicomte de Rouge then director of the Museum of Oriental MSS in Paris That distinguished scholar declared the composition to be nothing less than a story written by a Pharaonic scribe for the edification of the young Crown Prince, Seti Maniphta son of Pharaoh Rameses Miamum, founder of the cities of Pithom and Rameses, who ruled in Thebes, B C 1400, and at whose court Moses was educated The opinion of the learned Frenchman was subsequently confirmed by the authorities of the British Museum and in 1863 an equally learned German unfolded the papyrus and read to a Berlin audience a literal translation of the fairy tale, told to the son of Rameses the Second, 32 centuries ago In language and manner it resembles the style and structure of scriptural writings and other productions of the period

FEARFUL ACCIDENT IN A GYMNASIUM —Caleb Cushing, son of Hon William Cushing (and a relative of the American minister at Madrid), met with a fearful accident on Wednesday evening He was in the gymnasium of the Institute of Technology in Boston, exercising on the vaulting bar, at about 9 o'clock, and while swinging on the bar his grasp loosened and he came to the floor several feet beyond where the mattrasses were placed to guard against accidents. In falling he dislocated the vertebræ of the upper part of the backbone, near the neck, and below this he was paralyzed He remained conscious and able to speak but could neither feel nor move his limbs He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital On Thursday the surgeons held a consultation, but in the evening he was sinking and there was little hope of his surviving the injuries received — Newburyport Herald, Dec 25

A CRY FROM THE SHORE

BY NELLY M HUTCHINSON

Come down, ye gray beard mariners,
 Unto the wasting shore!
The morning winds are up—the gods
 Bid me to dream no more
Come tell me whither I must sail
 What perils there must be
Before I take my life in hand
 And venture out to sea!

We may not tell thee where to sail
 Nor what the dangers are
Each sailor soundeth for himself
 Each hath a separate star
Each sailor soundeth for himself
 And on the awful sea
What we have learned is ours alone
 We may not tell it thee

Come back O ghostly mariners
 Ye who have gone before!
I dread the dark impetuous tides,
 I dread the farther shore
Tell me the secret of the waves
 Say what my fate shall be—
Quick! for the mighty winds are up,
 And will not wait for me

Hail and farewell O voyager!
 Thyself must read the waves
What we have learned of sun and storm
 Lies with us in our graves
What we have learned of sun and storm
 Is ours alone to know
The winds are blowing out to sea,
 Take up thy life and go!

GONE TO THE BAD

BORN IN A BROTHEL—REARED IN A COLLEGE—AN ARMY OFFICER'S WIFE—A CHEYENNE BERKCIEL—AND NOW AN HEIRESS

The Colorado Democrat says Special Detective H S Brewer, of Covington Ky has been spending a short time in Denver, Pueblo, and Cheyenne, on the lookout for a girl whose real name is Ella S Blackwalk, but whose name at this time is Maude Carlisle, a well known courtesan of the worst type

On Tuesday Brewer obtained a clew to the girl's whereabouts he was after, and at once proceeded to Cheyenne, where, after some difficulty, he identified her, and induced her to return with him to Cincinnati to assume a fortune left her by the death of her mother, who was, during the war one of the gayest and most dissolute women in Cincinnati This woman died about three months ago, leaving seventy thousand dollars, with no heirs except this lost girl, the former inmate of one of the beer and concert halls of Cheyenne

A brief outline of this girl's life was given our reporter last night by Mr Brewer. She is the daughter of a noted gambler of Columbus, Ohio, where her mother was born and reared Blackwalk was shot and killed in a fray at the "Iron-clad" in Memphis, at the close of the war, leaving his mistress, Maude's mother, the proprietress of a noted Cincinnati bagnio The child was reared with the greatest of care and solicitude, and was never permitted to see or know ought of her mother's life In the seclusion of a seminary at Greenville, Ohio, the girl grew up and acquired a first class education without so much as a breath of suspicion as to her parentage or family connections

About three years ago Miss Blackwalk discovered her origin and her mother's mode of life She at once left school and insisted upon going to her mother's den in Cincinnati This was positively denied her. Her mother consented, however, to her taking up her abode in Covington, Kentucky, where an old lady companion was employed as her guardian The precaution of the fond mother to save her daughter from her own fate only hastened the fall.

At Newport Barracks there was stationed in 1863 a young officer named Thrailkeld, with whom Miss Blackwalk became acquainted, and whose mistress she became, following him with his command to Dakota, and finally to Fort Laramie, traveling as his wife Becoming tired of garrison life and Thrailkeld's neglect and brutality, she deserted him and came to Denver, where she went into a house of ill-fame, and finally took refuge in the gold room at Cheyenne, where Detective Brewer found her and identified her She first denied her name and identity, and called upon her friend to protect her from the attentions of the detective. But on his production of documentary proof of her mother's death and the published reward offered by her mother's executors for the discovery and identification of the lost child, the hardened and fallen girl consented to return [illegible] She came to Denver on her way to claim her fortune to obtain [illegible] and proofs of her identity, which were in a trunk held for board by a well-known courtesan

The girl announces her intention to keep her mother's house as she kept it when living She says her life has been wasted Dissipation and exposure have already made sad havoc with the once handsome girl Consumption has set its seal upon her, and a few years must close her vicious career. The party goes East this morning

A MONUMENT TO SEDUCTION.

WHAT MR. FIELD CALLS "AN ENDURING MONUMENT TO THAT MAN'S INFAMY"—ANOTHER CASE IN WHICH DELAY IS ASKED FOR.

The crim. con suit of Mr. Thomas W Field against Mr Thomas Kinsella was begun in Brooklyn yesterday before ex Judge Greenwood as referee Mr Field, the plaintiff, and his lawyers, Mr J M Van Cott and ex-Judge Emmott, attended the proceedings Winchester Britton and William C. De Witt were Mr Kinsella's lawyers Mr De Witt objected to the reporters attending the reference, and said that he should ask for an adjournment if they were admitted

Mr Van Cott cited the Proctor case, and said that the reference there decided to allow reporters to attend, and it was a question of discretion with him

Mr Field said, "I have nothing to conceal," and Mr. Britton replied that it was not a question of concealment, but one of protection to innocent parties who are dragged into this thing

Mr De Witt proposed an adjournment if they could not settle the case as to its publicity there "We wish," he added, "to protect a lady from public scandal, and there are children to be protected and we wish to protect the community from the details of this matter"

Mr. Field The lady, sir, is my wife, and I have a right to consult her protection I have tried to protect her

The lawyers agreed to an adjournment until next Tuesday

Mr. Field said after the adjournment that he should not submit to a trial which precluded him from showing to the public the character of his wife's betrayer and that he should instruct his counsel to withdraw their names from the stipulation to refer the case if he was restricted He said that it is the understanding that Mr Kinsella's lawyers are to try to obtain an order from the Supreme Court requiring the referee to close his doors The defendant was intensely anxious to have the testimony kept secret

Mr Field has in advance made an assignment of the amount of damages that he may receive from Mr Kinsella in his prosecution to Mr Charles F. Fellows the president of the Manufacturers' Bank and Mr Theodore T Jackson a Brooklyn lawyer, to hold in a trust fund for Mrs Field's benefit The interest of this amount is to be paid to her annually and at her death the principal is to be devoted to some charity which the trustees shall select and is to be applied for and appropriated under the name of the "Kinsella Fund" which title it is to bear as long as long as it lasts—as Mr Field says "an enduring monument to the man's infamy" Mr Field is to bear all the legal expenses of the prosecution It has been stipulated that in case the referee's decision shall be in Mr Field's favor the damages shall not be less than $10 000 and it is understood that there is to be no defense to the application for divorce which Mr Field has made The letters and other testimony are unusually interesting and the counsel in the Beecher case are looking for the proceedings with great interest as Mr Tilton's lawyers assert that the case of Mr Beecher's chief friend will doubtless affect their case favorably —N Y Sun, December 23

$15 000 DAMAGES AWARDED TO THE INJURED HUSBAND

BROOKLYN, Jan 6 —Judge Greenwood the referee in the suit of Thomas W Field against Thomas Kinsella for the seduction of his wife, filed his report in the county court to day The report sets forth in detail that the charge of seduction is proven both by oral and written evidence submitted on behalf of Field, the plaintiff the defense having offered no evidence The referee awards damages in the sum of $15 000 and judgment for that sum was entered by the court The suit of Mr Field for a divorce from his wife has been taken before a referee, and a report is expected some time this week

A Liverpool telegram to day quotes average California wheat ex warehouse 9s 6d per cental Oregon 9s 9d Quotations of cargoes of Oregon for prompt shipment to Liverpool are 8s to Cork, 9s 9d The same advices declare there is no demand and sales are difficult to make at the decline

Annual circulars from leading commercial agencies in New York report that mercantile failures at the Eastern money centers in 1874 were about equal in number to the [illegible] the preceding year and they say that a heavy proportion of these failures belong to 1873 They report that payments have been prompt and take a hopeful view of the future Commercial paper in the money market at New York has rarely been so easy at the close of the year as at the annual settlement for 1874 [illegible] discounting prime paper being [illegible] per cent As the period for a revival of business approaches, however it is expected that money will be more sought after and that rates will advance The large disbursements by the Treasury would have reduced the price of gold but for the continued heavy drain of coin and bullion to Europe The unusual heavy outflow of gold from New York is consequent upon the withdrawal of foreign capital invested in the United States and the return of American securities A good deal will depend upon what Congress may do in regard to several measures of national interest and importance but even should it again fail to take definite action on the currency and cognate measures, a revival of business is regarded as absolutely certain, and under conditions of a healthier nature than have characterized operations of the last few years

In local monetary circles matters move on quite smoothly, though there is no active demand for loans, and lenders are more busily employed in settling up the old year's affairs than in beginning the business of the new Although rates for discounts here are about twice as high as at the East there is the same comparative difference between them this year and previous years that is noted at New York in the paragraph above

Trade matters are not more active to-day than yesterday though the volume of business which is daily becoming more entirely local in its character is moderately fair for the season the few weeks which succeed the holidays being always considered one of the dull periods of the year, and merchants deem themselves fortunate, if they "bridge it over" with only a small proportion of the profits which they expect during other weeks in the year The closing of the Columbia by the cold weather and the low water in the Upper Wallamet also have their effects to check the general trade of this market, and to curtail both receipts and shipments

Miscellaneous.

The exports of domestic produce from San Francisco during the last half of 1874 were 5 430 810 ctls wheat [illegible] ctls barley 63 149 ctls oat and 22 500 bbls flour Most of the wheat went to Europe the next largest customers being Australia and New Zealand 31 681 ctls South America 2 914 the East Indies 16 175 and Japan 16 170 ctls The bulk of the barley went to the Atlantic coast Australia and South America taking more than Europe Nineteen twentieths of the oats went to Australia and New Zealand China was the largest customer for flour, 8[illegible]72 bbls Europe was next, 59 570, then Mexico and Central America, 42 521 the East Indies, 11 352, and Australia, 5 709 bbls.

Receipts at the San Francisco custom house for December were $50[illegible] 861 17 and for 1874 $5 557,439 85 which shows a slight increase over 1873.

The new Oregon built ship Western Shore 1 200 tons will load wheat at San Francisco for Liverpool on owners account

Two new banks have commenced operations in interior California—the Farmers' Bank, at Lakeport, and the San Bernardino Savings Bank. The Marysville Savings Bank has declared a dividend at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum

The Oswego Iron Works shipped 1 404 tons soft pig iron and 200 tons gray to San Francisco during the year 1874

A few weeks ago we published a full description of what is called the New Process of making flour We notice that the process is being pretty extensively adopted in the East and in the New York Produce Exchange the flour manufactured by the plan is quoted at 50c to $1 ⅌ 100 lbs higher than brands of standard extras made by the old process

Grain and Flour Market.

There seems to be no one who can judge one day before hand what will occur in this branch of trade During almost the entire season up to date the course of the markets, both home and foreign has given occasional if not frequent, surprises to those who ought to be very wise in such matters If experience always brings wisdom Yesterday the almost universal feeling in the wheat market was one of strength and holders of the cereal were buoyant with hope in the future A number of them furnished quotations freely at $1 40, while holders claimed that nothing less than $1 45 would move a single cental A number of charters were reported and many thought that an increased tonnage supply was sure to advance rates for the cargoes But to day latest reports bring advices from abroad which change the aspect of affairs and check for the time any transactions A Liverpool dispatch received at a late hour this afternoon quotes Oregon cargoes 3d@6d lower than at any previous time this season In the face of the advance in the San Francisco market and the firmer feeling on the part of holders here the prospect for those who have vessels chartered and have not the stocks to load them is not good by far The decline in the Liverpool and other markets of Great Britain has been the rule about the first January of each year for some four years past and hence it has surprised exporters less than some other things that have happened, as the advance in California for which we have as yet heard no one give an intelligible reason

At any rate the fall in the English market is likely to affect ours and holders may be compelled to accept $1 35 which is about the highest offer at present by exporter or hold awhile longer Millers however still quote $1 [illegible] per cental more for such lots as they desire and two of our State mills which are at work on flour contracts are paying full current rates for choice milling wheat If our latest foreign advices prove correct it is not likely that any considerable amount of tonnage will be taken up for this port until affairs indicate a more favorable turn and if business goes on briskly there must be some sort of a compromise between holders and buyers as there is now what appears to be a very wide difference

Our San Francisco telegrams received since the above was written note a decline in that market also and still further developments may be made to morrow

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Ajax left San Francisco for Portland to day and under ordinary circumstances would be due here next Friday night but it is now probable she will be detained at Astoria by ice and may not reach here at all this trip If she should be so detained a barge or two with freight may be sent down to her at Astoria but no definite arrangements of this kind are yet made

The bark Muriel which is under charter to load wheat for the Salem Flouring Mills is still lying in ballast below the mouth of the Wallamet and will try to come up through the slough to this port to receive cargo

The bark Wetterhorn at Astoria is not chartered as far as we could learn and those looking for freights will probably find her on the market

The schooner Hera with a cargo of grain and other produce will start down the river to morrow morning going through the slough to avoid the ice
